TO DELINQUENTS.

As announced, we have stricken from our list the names of all foreign subscribers owing us for one year or more, and are leaving their accounts with the proper officers for collection. We this week announce that, after the first of June, the names of all subscribers living within the county, who owe us for two years or more, will be stricken from our books, and their accounts collected. Our subscription list must be thoroughly worked. We are paying almost double the usual price for printing material, and have not advanced our rates. We have lost hundreds of dollars by not collecting promptly, or striking the names of delinquents from our list.

Let those who are honest and who wish to have the paper continued, heed this announcement. Enclose whatever you think due, in a letter, and do not wait to come to town before paying.

Horrible Condition of Released Prisoners
Persons visiting our men at Baltimore, who were lately brought from Libby Prison, give the most shocking accounts of their condition. None are at present able to be removed. Their average weight would not be over fifty, and the thickness of their thighs is not more than the span of a man's hand, as tested by actual trial. Out of one hundred and six twenty-one died during the past week.

As usual, after several days heavy fighting we have had several days heavy raining. The time which elapsed between the battles of Thursday and Friday and the rain of Tuesday and Wednesday, was about the same as that which elapsed between McClellan's battle on the Peninsula and the heavy rain which followed. These things have been so closely connected in the history of battles, that they must sustain to each other the relation of cause and effect. After the seven days fighting on the Peninsula, there was an Indian Summer, a dense haze, hanging over the hills in this section, and lasting for seven or eight days.—The like was never known before in the history of battles, that they must sustain to each other the relation of cause and effect.

We shall be happy if the rain does not interfere with Gen. Grant's operations. It would be unpleasant to have the capture of Richmond delayed on account of rain. Nevertheless a shower of rain sometimes determines the fate of empires. Hugo says, speaking of the battle of Waterloo, in order to change the history and face of Europe, Providence needed only a little shower of rain. We have, however, an abiding faith, that whether it rains or shines, Richmond will be captured and the rebel Confederacy wiped from the face of the earth.

FRIDAY'S BATTLE.

New York, May 9.—The Times has the following:
WASHINGTON, May 8 (Midnight).—Your special correspondent, writing from headquarters, at Wilderness Tavern, Friday evening, gives the following intelligence of a great battle on Friday:

The day has closed upon a terribly hard fought field, and the Army of the Potomac has added another to its list of murderous conflicts.

Lee's tactics, so energetically employed at Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, of throwing his whole army, first upon one wing and then upon the other, has again been brought to bear; but I rejoice that the Army of the Potomac has repulsed the tremendous onslaught of the enemy, and stands to night solidly in the position it assumes this morning.

The first attempt was made upon Hancock's right, somewhat weakened in numbers by the battle of yesterday, but the iron old Second Corps nobly stood its ground.

Then the enemy hurled his battalions upon Sedgwick, and, once or twice gained temporary advantage, but the old veterans were nobly rallied and repulsed the rebels with fearful slaughter. About half past four in the afternoon, Lee made a faint upon the whole line, then suddenly fell with his whole force upon Sedgwick, driving him back temporarily, but the advantage was soon regained and the rebels hurled back with great loss.

Night now came on, and it is believed at headquarters, this hour, that Lee has withdrawn from our front, although the nature of the ground has been of a terrible character, most of it being so thickly wooded as to render all movement impossible, and to conceal entirely the operations of the enemy. Yet, he has been signally repulsed in all his attacks, and nothing but the nature of the battlefield has prevented it from being a crushing defeat. The loss on both sides has been very heavy, but at this hour of hasty writing I cannot give an estimate.

The Battle of Friday—Lee Defeated with Great Slaughter.

A Washington Republican extra says that Grant hurled his entire army against the rebel army on Friday. Lee was driven three miles, leaving 3,000 killed and 10,000 wounded in our hands. Grant is master of the field. Lee is in full retreat. General Grant is in hot pursuit.

Official Report from General Butler.

WASHINGTON, May 10—1:30 P. M.
To MAJOR-GENERAL DIX:—I forward a dispatch this moment received from General Butler. It tells the story.

[Signed] E. M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

HEADQUARTERS NEAR BERMUDA LANDING, May 9.

"E. M. STANTON:—Our operations may be summed up in a few words.—With 1,700 cavalry we have advanced upon the Peninsula, forded the Chickahominy, and safely brought them to our present position. These were colored cavalry, and are now holding position as our advance toward Richmond.

"General Kautz, with 3,000 cavalry from Suffolk, on the same day with our movement upon James river, forded the Blackwater and burned the railroad bridge at Stony Creek, below Petersburg, cutting into Beauregard's forces at that point.

"We have landed here, entrenched ourselves, destroyed many miles of railroad, and got a position which, with proper supplies, we can hold against the whole of Lee's army. I have ordered up the supplies. Beauregard with a large portion of his command was left south of the cutting of the railroad by General Kautz. That portion which reached Petersburg, under D. H. Hill, I have whipped to-day, killing and wounding many, and taking many prisoners, after a severe and well-contested fight. Lieutenant General Grant will not be troubled with any further re-enforcements to Lee from Beauregard's forces.

(Signed) B. F. BUTLER,
Major General Commanding."

The greatest mystery in the world to us is that any one will buy or use any other remedy for Coughs, Colds, &c. but Madame Porter's Cough Balsam. It cures Hooping Cough, Croup, Sore Throat, &c. &c., strengthens the lungs, and will be found very pleasant to take—try it. Sold by all Druggists at 25 cents per bottle.

THE GOVERNOR OF OHIO TO THE NATIONAL GUARD.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT OHIO,
COLUMBUS, May 3, 1864.
To the National Guard of Ohio:
The Commander in Chief cordially and earnestly thanks you for your noble response on yesterday to the call made for the relief of our army, and the salvation of the country.—This manifestation of loyalty and patriotism is alike honorable to yourselves and your noble State. In the history of this great struggle it will constitute a page that you and your descendants may hereafter contemplate with perfect satisfaction.

The duty to which you will be assigned though comparatively a minor one will be none the less beneficial to the cause of the country. While you hold fortifications and lines of army communications, you will release veteran soldiers, and allow them to strengthen the great army that is marshaling for the mightiest contest of the war. In this you contribute your full measure to the final result we all confidently anticipate and so much desire the end of the rebellion and the restoration of peace and unity in the land.

There is no present imminent danger that calls you from your peaceful avocations. But it is necessary that you enter upon the spring campaign with a force that will enable us to strike rapid and effective blows when the conflict opens.

Though we have met with a few reverses this spring, the general military situation is everywhere hopeful and those in command of our armies were never more confident. But we cannot permit this war, in its present proportions, to linger through another year. It is laying a burden upon us, which, by vigorous and united exertion we must arrest. It is true economy as well as the dictate of humanity, to call to the termination of this contest a force sufficient for the purpose.—Time, treasure and blood will alike be saved in augmenting our forces, and making the contest short and decisive.

The hope of the rebel leaders is in the procrastination of the war. In this, a political party in the North sympathizes with them, and is laboring, by the same means, to secure a political triumph at the expense of the unity and future prosperity of the nation.—The first we must subdue with our arms within the hundred days, and then we can turn upon the other, and win over it a more peaceful, but not less glorious victory.

I am not ignorant of the sacrifices this call imposes upon you, nor of the unequal manner in which it imposes the burdens of the war. You must reflect, however, that hitherto we have experienced comparatively little of the inconvenience and depression consequent upon a state of war.

If a part of these come home to us now, we can well afford to meet, for a short time, the tax imposed upon us, especially when the sacrifice gives promise of materially hastening the close of the contest. The burthen must necessarily be unequal, for the Union men of this country must work out its salvation. The disloyal element is not to be relied upon, either to encourage our armies or to aid in the crushing of the rebellion. You are, in this particular, not unlike your ancestors, who achieved the independence of your country against a foreign enemy on the one hand and the forces of the Revolution on the other. Remember, then, that like unto those who wrought out your nationality, through adversity that you have not yet experienced, the greater the sacrifice the higher the honor to those who are called to preserve it.

Fully comprehending the effects of this call upon the industrial interests of the State, I would not have made it, had I not been fully impressed with the necessity of an increase of our forces as the most effective means of hastening the close of the contest, and the advent of peace. I have done what I conscientiously believed to be my duty, in the present position of affairs, and you have responded in a manner that challenges my admiration, and will command the gratitude of the country.

Go forth, then, soldiers of the National Guard, to the fulfillment of the duty assigned to you. I have entire confidence that you will meet all its requirements with fidelity and honor.—The prayers of the people of your State will follow you; and may your return be as glorious as your going forth is noble and patriotic.

JOHN BROUGH.

Official Report of Grant's Position on Monday Noon.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

To General Dix: Dispatches have been received this P. M. from Gen. Grant, dated at 1 o'clock yesterday.—The enemy have made a stand at Spottsylvania Court House. There had been some hard fighting, but no general battle had taken place there. The army is represented to be in excellent condition, and with ample supplies. General Robinson and General Morris are wounded. No other casualties to General officers, are reported. General Wright has been placed in command of Sedgwick's corps. Gen. Grant did not design to renew the attack to-day, being engaged in replenishing from the supply train, so as to advance without it.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A SUPERIOR REMEDY.—We can conscientiously recommend to those suffering from a distressing cough, Dr. Strickland's Mellowing Compound, which is given instant relief, and is not disagreeable to the taste. There is no doubt but the Mellowing Compound is one of the best preparations in use, and all that a proprietor claims for it. We have used it during the last winter, and found relief from the most distressing cough. It is sold by Dr. Strickland, No. 8 East Fourth St., Cincinnati, O., and is for sale by Druggists at 50 cents per bottle.

DIARRHOEA AND DYSENTERY.—We have examined a great number of letters from some of the most prominent citizens of Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio, speaking in the highest terms of Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture for the cure of diarrhea and dysentery. The letters are too long to publish. Mr. Wood, of Cincinnati, says he was pronounced incurable by the best medical advice, and found relief from Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture, and he is now well and hearty.

Another says he was discharged from the United States Service after suffering in the hospital for months as incurable as the above, and he is now well and hearty.
